

A vibrant street scene in Ireland during a festival. The street is lined with colorful buildings in shades of yellow, green, and red. Numerous blue and white bunting flags are strung across the street, creating a festive atmosphere. A large white banner with the text "Festivals in Ireland" is prominently displayed in the center. The banner has a stylized Irish tricolor (green, white, and orange) behind the text. In the background, a sign for "BISTRO" is visible on the left, and a "SUBWAY" sign is on the right. The overall scene is bright and celebratory.

Events and Sustainability Andrew Smith,Judith Mair,2022-09-05 This book examines the links between events and sustainability with a particular focus on how festivals and events contribute to making places more inclusive resilient and sustainable Previous sustainability research in events often focused on reducing the negative environmental impacts with a corresponding lack of consideration of socio economic dimensions More recently research has begun to consider events in relation to a range of economic and social issues highlighting the growing importance of examining events through a critical lens This book adopts a critical and broader approach to event sustainability arguing that scholars should examine how events might contribute to sustainable development rather than merely exploring how individual events could be made more sustainable Accordingly the contributors to this edited book address how events might change attitudes and behaviours by promoting sustainable lifestyles communities and technologies Following a detailed introduction the book features 16 chapters written by scholars from across the world The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Sustainable Tourism avoid offending Ireland's largest tourist market the English and supplanted traditional rural fairs revolving around muddy animals and featuring sexually suggestive ceremonies with new family friendly festivals and events filling today's tourist calendar By challenging existing notions that the Irish tourist product is either timeless or the consequence of colonialism Zuelow demonstrates that the development of tourist imagery and Irish national identity was not the result of a handful of elites or a postcolonial legacy but rather the product of an extended discussion that ultimately involved a broad cross section of society both inside and outside Ireland Tourism he argues played a vital role in making Ireland Irish
