Reading Comprehension

Read the following text and answer the questions below.

In the vast wilderness of the Texas frontier, where the sun burns the desert with heat of red and gold, there walked a hazy and pale old man with a staff and a hat that stood at the top of his head like a tiny tower and the trailing tassel.

One day, some years before the world was still young, Coyote crossed the desert in search of food and searched after something else, as he looked across the sandy dunes, he encountered a peculiar man with a cactus with a face carved into its trunk. To his surprise, the cactus spoke. "Greetings, Coyote. I have searched you often ever since, and I will now challenge. If you can defeat me, I will show the secrets of the desert to you."

Coyote, being ever ready to accept a challenge, accepted with a grin to his eye. The talking cactus presented a series of riddles, each more revealing than the last. "The world is like a garden, the talking cactus whispered into his ear.

He was ready to give up, but the talking cactus whispered into his ear. "Coyote, listen to me just for one day. I will show you the secrets of the desert. The talking cactus whispered into his ear.

Long ago in the heart of Texas, where the sun burns a magical desert beauty in the enchanted river, it was said that the water possessed a mysterious glow, and the gentle whisper of its current carried the secrets of operations. One day, a man with a staff and a hat that stood at the top of his head like a tiny tower and the trailing tassel.

The city began with two friends, Little Fox and Thunder Stone, who lived on opposite sides of the enchanted river. Although the river was not wide, it was swift, and its banks were the nature. Little Fox and Thunder Stone decided to join together and share their life, but the river stood as a barrier between them.

One day, as the sun shined below the horizon, the enchanted river offered a solution to the friends' dilemma. "If you can defeat me, I will show the secrets of the desert to you."

Little Fox and Thunder Stone, determined to conquer the river, set out on a journey to find a gift that would conquer the river. They faced challenges along the way, but their friendship and determination were their strength. Little Fox found a new friend, while Thunder Stone found a new friend.
