Stouder,Peter A. Bisson,Robert J. Naiman,2012-02-02 The symposium Pacific Salmon and Their Ecosystems Status and Future Options and this book resulted from initial efforts in 1992 by Robert J Naiman and Deanna J Stouder to examine the problem of declining Pacific salmon Oncorhynchus spp Our primary goal was to determine informational gaps As we explored different scientific sources state provincial and federal agencies as well as non profit and fishing organizations we found that the information existed but was not being communicated across institutional and organizational boundaries At this juncture we decided to create a steering committee and plan a symposium to bring together researchers managers and resource users The steering committee consisted of members from state and federal agencies non profit organizations and private industry see Acknowledgments for names and affiliations In February 1993 we met at the University of Washington in Seattle to begin planning the symposium The steering committee spent the next four months developing the conceptual framework for the symposium and the subsequent book Our objectives were to accomplish the following 1 assess changes in anadromous Pacific Northwest salmonid populations 2 examine factors responsible for those changes and 3 identify options available to society to restore Pacific salmon in the Northwest The symposium on Pacific Salmon was held in Seattle Washington January 10 12 1994 Four hundred and thirty five people listened to oral presentations and examined more than forty posters over two and a half days We made a deliberate attempt to draw in speakers and attendees from outside the Pacific Northwest Holt Science and Technology Holt Rinehart & Winston,Holt, Rinehart and Winston Staff,2001 Islands' Spirit Rising Louise Takeda,2014-12-10 The islands of Haida Gwaii contain some of the last remaining tracts of intact coastal temperate rainforest in the world Aggressive logging over the past century however has threatened not only the unique biodiversity and habitat values but also the cultural values of the Haida people who have relied on these forests for millennia Islands Spirit Rising examines the long term conflict over the islands ancient forests and recent events that unfolded in the context of collaborative land use planning In response to threats posed by a century of logging a local indigenous environmental community movement built enough momentum to challenge the multinational forest industry and the political structures enabling it This book traces the evolution of this dynamic force from the early days of Haida resistance to the modern context of alliances legal battles and evolving forms of governance Children's Books in Print, 2007 ,2006 Environmentalism in Landscape Architecture Michel Conan,2000 The papers presented in this volume range from proposals for new design approaches historical analysis of the relationship between the practice of landscape architecture and environmentalism to the theories of early practitioners of landscape architecture imbued by an environmentalist outlook The issues above are addressed through topics as eclectic as the design of American zoos the establishment of the Tennessee Valley Authority road

design and maintenance in Texas and criticism of relationships between the words and works of select landscape architects
This volume provides a fresh approach to encounters between environmentalism and landscape architecture by reframing the issues through self reflection instead of strategic debate Environmental Hazards and Resilience Dennis J.

Parker, Edmund C. Penning-Rowsell, 2021-08-26 Building resilience to the world s increasingly damaging environmental hazards has become a priority This book considers the scientific advances which have been made around the world to enhance this resilience Although resilience is not new it is through the idea of resilience that governments organisations and communities around the world are now seeking to address the rapidly increasing losses that environmental hazards cause so that fewer lives are lost and damage is reduced Alternative ideas and approaches have been helpful in reducing loss but resilience offers a fresh and potentially effective means of reducing it further Adopting a scientific approach and scientific evidence is important in applying the resilience idea in hazard mitigation However the science of resilience is at an immature stage of development with much discussion about the concept and how it should be understood and interpreted Building useful theories remains a challenge although some of the building blocks of theory have been developed More attention has been given to developing indicators and frameworks of resilience which are subsequently applied to measure resilience to hazards such as flooding earthquake and climate change Environmental Hazards and Resilience Theory and Evidence considers the scientific and theoretical challenges of making progress in applying resilience to environmental hazard mitigation and provides examples from around the world including the USA New Zealand China Bangladesh and elsewhere
