Botswana Herman M. Batibo, Birgit Smieja, 2000 The need of the national language Setswana to participate actively in society politics and democratisation as both national language and lingua franca of Botswana has caused language domination and suffocation on the part of the 25 or so minority languages As a result these languages are now going through a process of language shift and death Consequently their cultures too suffer great losses in order to keep pace with the mainstream society The aim of the book is threefold a to inform the large public both local and international about the sociolinguistic and related issues regarding the minority languages of Botswana b to provide facts about the state and future trends of the minority languages in order to sensitise the public and the relevant authorities about the issues involved and c to present ideas and insights in order to stimulate academic debates on the minority languages Linguists from Botswana as well as from Europe and U S A present their latest field research findings to shed light on the present situation of the minority languages

Imagining Multilingual Schools Ofelia García, Tove Skutnabb-Kangas, Maria E. Torres-Guzmán, 2006 This book brings together visions and realities of multilingual schools throughout the world in order to examine the pedagogical socioeducational and sociopolitical issues that impact on their development and success The chapters describe and analyze pedagogical instructional and policy efforts to develop multilingualism through school with different targeted populations immigrant students indigenous peoples traditional minorities majorities and multiethnic multilingual groups Each contribution many written by well known scholars in the field of bilingual and multilingual education affirms the desirability of multilingualism as a societal resource and as a right of individuals while acknowledging the social economic and political differences that make the acquisition of multilingualism easy for some and difficult for others And yet the book focuses on the school as a place of promise and resistance having the potential to preserve recover and expand the world s linguistic diversity The introduction written by the co editors identifies the conceptual threads that are developed throughout the chapters But the chapters themselves remind us of the importance of local conditions despite the global pressures of the 21st century in imagining and creating multilingual educational spaces
