Oglesbee,OhioLINK Electronic Theses and Dissertations Center,2014 The purpose of this study was to examine how the implementation of the Wilsons Foundations Program in first grade classrooms impacted reading growth more specifically the growth of phonological awareness and fluency of first grade students This study also asked whether or not the length of the intervention Wilsons Foundations impacts student success in the program The Wilsons Foundations program Wilson Language Training Corporation 2012 is a systematic explicit and structured multi sensory language program According the Bradford 2008 using multisensory teaching methods simultaneously will help the student learn and hold onto new information better A sample of three groups one group for each year of first grade students scores from three AIMSweb screeners Phoneme Segmentation Fluency Nonsense Word Fluency and Oral Reading Fluency were collected and analyzed from an elementary school in northwest Ohio There were approximately 50 students in each group The first group received no intervention The second group received an accelerated version of the intervention during the second semester of school The third group received a full year of the intervention After running statistical tests each post test from all three groups and all three screeners had statistically significant differences In addition there were also significant differences between each group These data indicate that employing the Wilsons Foundations Program in first grade classrooms appears to impact their phonological growth as does the length of the program intervention
