Film History An Introduction:

Film History: An Introduction Kristin Thompson, David Bordwell, 2010 This book introduces the history of film as it is presently conceived and taught by its most accomplished scholars. However, this book is not a distillation of everything that is known about film history. Film History Kristin Thompson, David Bordwell, 1994-01-01 Written by two leading film scholars, Film History: An Introduction is a comprehensive survey of film from the backlots of Hollywood across the United States and around the world. As in the authors' bestselling Film Art, concepts and events are illustrated with actual frame enlargements, giving students more realistic points of reference than competing books that use publicity stills.

Looseleaf for Film History: An Introduction David Bordwell, Kristin Thompson, 2011-05-23 Written by two of the leading scholars in film studies, Film History: An Introduction is a comprehensive global survey of the medium that covers the development of every genre in film from drama and comedy to documentary and experimental. As with the authors' bestselling Film Art: An Introduction, now in its eighth edition, concepts and events are illustrated with frame enlargements taken from the original sources, giving students more realistic points of reference than competing books that rely on publicity stills. The third edition of Film History is thoroughly updated and includes the first comprehensive overviews of the impact of globalization and digital technology on the cinema. Any serious film scholar, professor, undergraduate, or graduate student will want to read and keep Film History. Visit the author's blog at <http://www.davidbordwell.net/blog>. Instructors and students can now access their course content through the Connect digital learning platform by purchasing either standalone Connect access or a bundle of print and Connect access. McGraw Hill Connect is a subscription-based learning service accessible online through your personal computer or tablet. The new and expanded edition is fully updated to include a wider range of textual examples from world literature, additional references to contemporary cinema, a section on comparative literature, and an extended survey of literary periods and genres recent changes in MLA guidelines information on state of the art citation management software the use and abuse of online resources The book also features suggestions for further reading as well as an extensive glossary of key terms

Movie History: A Survey Douglas Gomery, Clara Pafort-Overduin, 2011-02-28 Covering everything from Edison to Avatar Gomery and Pafort Overduin have written the clearest best organized and most user friendly film history textbook on the market It masterfully distills the major trends and movements of film history so that the subject can be taught in one semester And each chapter includes a compelling case study that highlights an important moment in movie history and at the same time subtly introduces a methodological approach This book is a pleasure to read and to teach Peter Decherney University of Pennsylvania USA In addition to providing a comprehensive overview of the development of film around the world the book gives us examples of how to do film history including organizing the details and discussing their implications Hugh McCarney Western Connecticut State University USA Douglas Gomery and Clara Pafort Overduin have created an outstanding textbook with an impressive breadth of content covering over 100 years in the evolution of cinema Movie History A Survey is an engaging book that will reward readers with a contemporary perspective of the history of motion pictures and provide a solid foundation for the study of film Matthew Hanson Eastern Michigan University USA How can we understand the history of film Historical facts don't answer the basic questions of film history History as this fascinating book shows is more than the simple accumulation of film titles facts and figures This is a survey of over 100 years of cinema history from its beginnings in 1895 to its current state in the twenty first century An accessible introductory text Movie History A Survey looks at not only the major films filmmakers and cinema institutions throughout the years but also extends to the production distribution exhibition technology and reception of films The textbook is divided chronologically into four sections using the timeline of technological changes Section One looks at the era of silent movies from 1895 to 1927 Section Two starts with the coming of sound and covers 1928 until 1950 Section Three runs from 1951 to 1975 and deals with the coming and development of television and Section Four focuses on the coming of home video and the transition to digital from 1975 to 2010 Key pedagogical features include timelines in each section help students to situate the films within a broader historical context case study boxes with close up analysis of specific film histories and a particular emphasis on film reception lavishly illustrated with over 450 color images to put faces to names and to connect pictures to film titles margin notes add background information and clarity glossary for clear understanding of the key terms described references and further reading at the end of each chapter to enhance further study A supporting website is available at www.routledge.com/textbooks/moviehistory with lots of extra materials useful for the classroom or independent study including additional case studies new in depth and unique to the website international case studies for the Netherlands in Dutch and English timeline A movie history timeline charting key dates in the history of cinema from 1890 to the present day revision flash cards ideal for getting to grips with key terms in film studies related resources on the website you will find every link from the book for ease of use plus access to additional online material students are also invited to submit their own movie history case studies see website for details Written by two highly respected film scholars and experienced teachers Movie History is the ideal textbook for students studying film history A History of Film Virginia Wright Wexman, 2006 Substantially revised for this edition A History of Film is a comprehensive international survey of film from its beginnings to the present This text highlights the contributions of major film producing countries significant filmmakers and their films within social artistic economic and technological contexts This Sixth Edition incorporates major revisions designed to improve the book's focus and provide more balanced coverage New to the Sixth Edition Includes new chapters on Indian and Chinese cinemas emphasizing the exploding film industry in these two countries Adds a chapter on The Digital Future in American film bringing the text up to date with latest technological and industrial developments Discusses more women filmmakers throughout the text and adds a section on Asian American filmmakers expanding the diversity and inclusiveness of the text Replaces many illustrations with new examples most of them frame enlargements and specifically keys all illustrations to discussions in the text ensuring that the images will be valuable learning tools for students Adds more extended analyses of individual films helping students grasp large historical questions by presenting them within specific cases rather than in abstract generalities Provides a new glossary helping students understand the technical foreign language and industry terms used in the text Praise for A History of Film The reason why I selected A History of Film over all of the other textbooks has to do with the basic approach of the subject of film as a developing art form while paying careful attention to film genres and history the organizational structure of the chapters a clear and authoritative writing style that explains the interconnectivity of film as a global phenomenon and the use of judiciously selected stills in support of the text The structure organization and content of A History of Film is so good that it is to me still the standard by which all other film textbooks must be measured Stephen Ambra New Hampshire Technical Institute The text concisely covers all of film history and its size makes it particularly useful for film history courses taught in a single term It is typically quite insightful yet not too dense for motivated introductory students Mark Gallagher University of Missouri Visualizing Film History Christian Gosvig Olesen, 2025-01-07 Though many archival digital objects were not born digital film archives are now becoming important resources for digital scholarship as a consequence of digitization Moreover with advancements in digital research methods involving video annotation visual analysis and GIS affecting the way we look at archival films material stylistic histories and circulation new research practices are more important than ever Visualizing Film History is an accessible introduction to archive based digital scholarship in film and media studies and beyond With a combined focus on the history of film historiography archiving and recent digital scholarship covering a period from the first wave of film archiving in the early 1900s to recent data art this book proposes ways to work critically with digitized archives and research methods Christian Olesen encourages a shift towards new critical practices in the field with an in depth assessment of and critical approach to doing film historiography with the latest digital tools and digitized archives Olesen argues that if students scholars and archivists are to fully realize the potential of emerging digital tools and methodologies they must critically consider the roles that data analysis visualization interfaces and procedural human machinery interactions play in producing knowledge in current film historical research If we fail to do so we risk losing our ability to critically navigate and renew contemporary research practices and evaluate the results of digital scholarship
