 - B. The rich got richer and controlled most of the means of income, whereas the poor stayed stagnant
- IV. The Farmers's Plight
 - A. The golden age of farming occurred during WWI because of the increased demand needed for crops
 - B. However, post-war the farmers and rural America were in an economic depression because of the declining income and banks foreclosing thousands of farms
- V. The Image of Business
 - A. Even though the rise of unemployment continued in other countries from WWI, the image of American prosperity and the way of life was spread through Hollywood films
 - B. The image of business received more positive attitudes, evidence can be seen with more retail investors getting into the stock market
- VI. The Decline of Labor
 - A. There was a decline in labor, however, there was also an increase in the idea of "welfare capitalism" -- where business leaders began to pay attention to the "human factor" in employment
