OBJECTIVE 1: Endocrine System

State that specialized cells called endocrine cells secrete one or more hormones that travel through the blood stream to target cells. Describe how the endocrine system and the nervous system work together to coordinate body functions. DO NOT USE WORDS

1. Define hormone and target cell.

- A hormone is a chemical messenger that affects the functions of another cell. A target cell is a cell that possesses specific receptors for a particular hormone.

2. Describe the way in which hormones produce body responses.

- Hormones usually act either and help hydrophilic hormones to permeate the membrane released from one gland can act either glandular make different hormones.

3. Define negative feedback and describe its role in regulating hormones of the various systems.

- This is important for physiological conditions. For example, suppose that the body is made changes that will bring it back to normal level. Once body is normal, it will turn off.

4. Explain the difference between a neuroendocrine cell and a hormone cell.

- Hormones are produced in endocrine glands and are released into the bloodstream where they find their targets at various distances from the origin whereas neuroendocrine cells release their products into the synaptic cleft of a specialized synapse where they, transmitting a nerve signal to the neighboring postsynaptic target cell.

5. Describe the difference between endocrine and exocrine glands.

- Endocrine glands are the glands that secrete hormones directly into the bloodstream whereas exocrine glands secrete hormones through ducts.

6. Explain the "back-swing system" (aka the "flyback"). Explain.

- The "back-swing system" refers to the increase and control of the target cell. The specific hormone is designed to fit a specific target cell, it's only bond together can it be recognized, that's why that has a key cell only if it has the lock it's designed for.

7. On an appropriate diagram (the one you learned in class), identify the major endocrine glands and ducts.

- The hypothalamus, pituitary, thyroid, parathyroids, adrenal, pineal body, the ovaries, and the testes.

8. Describe the functional relationship between the hypothalamus and the pituitary gland.

- The hypothalamus links the nervous and endocrine systems by way of the pituitary gland. Its function is to receive releasing hormones and inhibiting hormones that stimulate/inhibit production of hormones in the anterior pituitary.
