Brain-Compatible Activities for Mathematics, Grades 4-5 David A. Sousa, 2009-12-10 Sophisticated medical instruments have provided us with a unique glimpse into the learning brain. As educators, we can take that knowledge and apply it to teaching in our classrooms. With the advantage of brain research, we have been able to develop instructional techniques that facilitate the brain's innate learning capacity. The more teachers know about how the brain learns, the more instructional options they have. Brain-Compatible Activities for Mathematics, Grades 4-5 provides ready-to-use brain-compatible lessons for mathematics instruction. Each step-by-step lesson includes detailed instructions for the teacher, math activities, and all the necessary reproducibles. Correlated with the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics standards and Focal Points, this classroom resource shows teachers how to apply the principles discussed in Sousa's bestseller How the Brain Learns Mathematics.

Included are annotated lesson plans for differentiated units in social studies, language arts, science, mathematics, and world foreign language. Samples of differentiated worksheets, product assignments, rubrics, and homework handouts. An overview of the essential elements of differentiated instruction and guidelines for using the book as a learning tool. An extended glossary and recommended readings for further exploration of key ideas and strategies. Each unit highlights underlying standards, delineates learning goals, and takes you step-by-step through the instructional process. Unit developers provide running commentary on their use of flexible grouping and pacing, tiered assignments, and assessments, negotiated criteria, and numerous other strategies. The models and insight presented will inform your own differentiation efforts and help you meet the challenge of mixed-ability classrooms with academically responsive curriculum appropriate for all learners.
