Chocolate

Chocolate is a delicious treat that has been enjoyed for centuries. It was first made by the Mayan and Aztec people in Central America. Christopher Columbus was the first European to bring chocolate to Europe. He brought the bean to Spain, and later, the Aztecs used chocolate to make a drink called chocolate. This drink was made with chocolate and spices. It wasn't until much later that sugar and milk were added to it, and chocolate was discovered. John Cadbury was the first to make the modern solid chocolate. He was the first to use the process of making chocolate that we use today. He was the first to use the word "chocolate" to describe the product. Today, chocolate is made in many different ways. Some people like to eat it as a treat, while others use it in baking. There are many different kinds of chocolate, and each one has its own special taste. Can you imagine the long history of chocolate? How long do you think it has been around? Can you remember the long history of chocolate?
