

Chemistry Honors Study Guide May 2024

Listed below is a list of major concepts that may appear on your final exam; it is not a complete listing. As discussed in class, please review definitions, concepts, examples & applications. Use a "ranking" system to determine your focus.

Keep a list of "items" you want to review in class.

If I were studying:

- 1) I would review the key terms and concepts in the text by flipping through each page and jotting down key ideas and the corresponding sections. I would rank these concepts for easier reviewing.
- 2) I would then study any concepts that I did not rank as knowing "well".
- 3) Next, I would retake all the assessments. I would make a note of any incorrect concepts.
- 4) I would locate these incorrect concepts & further investigate (Le., read the text, read my notes, locate similar HW problems & re-solve).
- 5) I would address any lingering confusion during class or visit my teacher before or after school. Of course, I would be prepared to ask questions.
- 6) And of course I would remember that as soon as this test is over, chemistry is over and summer begins!!!!

Review General Concepts such as: calculation protocols, naming & formulas, recognition of ionic vs molecular compounds, oxidation numbers, molecular weights and anything else that is required from the first semester for you to successfully complete the material in the second semester.
