

Control of Microbial Growth Lab Reporting Worksheet

In science, reporting what has been done in a laboratory setting is incredibly important for communicating, replicating, and validating findings. However, writing scientific reports can be a little overwhelming. There are a set of agreed upon components that the scientific community requires when reporting scientific experimentation. Answer the following questions to describe what occurred during the lab you conducted in Labster. Be sure to use complete sentences and descriptions that fully represent what you experienced. Writing a lab report is less about being correct or incorrect, than it is accurately reporting what happened and why. So, do not worry about reporting data that might seem counterintuitive or unexpected. Focus on clearly communicating what you did and what you observed.

TITLE:

What was the title of the lab you completed?

Control of Microbial Growth: Explore decontamination and selective toxicity

PROBLEM:

What was the problem you were trying to resolve in the Lab?

I was asked to investigate bacteria that had caused an abscess tooth in a patient for the second time.

HYPOTHESIS:

What information from the textbook and classroom is relevant for the problem you were trying to resolve in the lab? Identify the concepts and explain how they are related to the lab problem.

In Chapter 13 of the textbook, there are thorough descriptions on physical methods of controlling microbial growth. One particular method that was relevant to this lab was using heat. Reusable fomites need sterilized for use with each patient. To sterilize the given fomites, an autoclave was used. An autoclave uses moist-heat sterilization, which is the most effective compared to dry-heat sterilization because it penetrates cells better.

In Chapter 14 of the textbook, there are thorough descriptions of antibacterial drugs and how they work against bacteria.
