

Accounting: Ethics - Real-World Case Studies

Case Name: _____

Mid-Credit Scenario

- What other stakeholders have a stake in this case, and what information do they need?

The stakeholders that have a stake in this case is primarily the company's customers, which include all of the company's employees, suppliers, shareholders, and the general public. The company's customers are the primary stakeholders, as they are the ones who are most affected by the company's actions. The company's employees are also important stakeholders, as they are the ones who are most directly involved in the company's operations. The company's suppliers are also important stakeholders, as they are the ones who provide the company with the raw materials and components it needs to produce its products. Finally, the general public is also a stakeholder, as they are the ones who are most affected by the company's actions in terms of the environment and social issues.

- Why is this case important to you as a business student? How does it relate to your studies?

This case is important to me as a business student because it highlights the importance of ethical decision-making in the business world. It shows how a company's actions can have a significant impact on its stakeholders, and how a company's failure to act ethically can lead to serious consequences. This case also illustrates the importance of transparency and accountability in business, and how a company's actions can be scrutinized by the public. Finally, this case shows how a company's actions can be influenced by external factors, such as government regulations and social pressure, and how a company can use these factors to its advantage.

- What does your class/teacher expect you to do with this case study?

The teacher expects me to analyze the case study and identify the key ethical issues. I am also expected to evaluate the company's actions and determine whether they are ethical or not. Finally, I am expected to propose a solution to the ethical issues and justify my reasoning.

- What does your class/teacher expect you to do with this case study, in terms of your own work?

I am expected to write a paper on the case study, in which I will analyze the company's actions and determine whether they are ethical or not. I am also expected to propose a solution to the ethical issues and justify my reasoning. Finally, I am expected to present my findings to the class and answer any questions.
