Title: A Phenomenological Pilot Study of Energy Healers Expertise and Recommendations for Energetic Disaster and Trauma Relief Training

Introduction

In order to effectively and consistently provide energetic disaster relief treatments for humanitarian disasters, there needs to be a training program to train volunteers and local social service providers. Few studies have focused on how to adequately and effectively integrate and train people in the knowledge of different energy systems in disaster relief. Some trauma relief organizations such as The Trauma Relief Committee of the Association of Thought Field Therapy, Green Cross Association of Traumatic Stress Specialists, Common Bond Institute-- Catastrophic Trauma Recovery Project (CTR) and others, have had much success providing training and co-ordinating teams of practitioners to deploy to assist victims and workers in need during incidents of trauma and disaster. The Association of Comprehensive Energy Psychology (ACEP) has provided initial relief work and training on a volunteer basis to local service providers during disasters (Feinstein, 2008). Despite the effective use of energy psychology in Singapore, Sri Lanka, and Indonesia by ACEP members, no comprehensive training program or organizational structure exists to train a core of dedicated trainers for this type of work. The ACEP Humanitarian Committee has been tasked with developing a training model of best practices and how to move forward (Bulbrook, 2009).

A study that addresses/defines energetic disaster and trauma relief training is important for several reasons. First, it brings the strengths of many energy systems to the field in the aftermath of trauma and disasters. Second, it compiles a diverse wealth of potentially meaningful information/data from numerous experts in their respective fields that can be used to create a training program for relief workers in energetic disaster relief. Finally, it brings this information to a wider audience of practitioners and organizations to assist them in the development of their own training programs in disaster relief.

Purpose of the Study --the purpose of this phenomenological study is to explore and understand through the obtaining of information from key participants in their respective energy systems, what they can contribute to energetic disaster and trauma relief training. The overall aim of this
