A Forest Environment Tax Scheme in Japan Keiko Nakayama,2022-03-02 This book is a work that focuses on the forest environmental tax Forest resources have played a major role in preventing global warming by absorbing carbon dioxide and supplying oxygen However global economic growth has adversely affected the global environment and has exacerbated global warming due to excessive consumption of forest resources The functions or services of forests are diverse but the interest of the citizenry in forest cultivation is scarce since forests are public goods Concurrently Japanese forestry which has played an important role in forest conservation is steadily declining and it is no longer possible for private forest operators to maintain the forest environment Therefore in order to realize sustainable economic growth it is necessary to formulate policies for the conservation of appropriate forest environments Forest conservation is an especially important policy issue for Japan where two thirds of the country is forested In Japan a forest environmental tax is being introduced as a forest conservation policy As of 2021 the forest environmental tax has already been introduced in about two thirds of the prefectures and soon will be introduced as a national tax In this book the significance and issues of the forest environmental tax will be sorted out and the status of the introduction of the forest environmental tax in Japan will be compared with that of other countries In addition there is additional material regarding the water source conservation fund in Toyota City Aichi Prefecture a system similar to the forest environmental tax
