Arquette, C. Multiple activity literacy centers: promoting choice and learning differentiation. Illinois Reading Council Journal. Summer 2007. Vol. 35 Issue 3. p3-9.

Literacy centers should be differentiated in order to be highly effective. Teachers cannot simply put a center activity in the classroom and expect all students to complete the center. Just like our regular instruction, centers must be differentiated. This article shows research for and stresses the importance of reading all learners through the use of differentiated literacy centers. Students learn best when they are given choices and are able to complete the tasks independently (of the teacher). This article can be used during the PD to show teachers the importance and effectiveness of differentiation.

Chrisma, K. The nuts and bolts of discovery centers. Science and Children. Vol. 43. p20-23 Nov-Dec 2005

Science centers are a great way for children to learn new science concepts and literacy at the same time. Students are exposed to the science content they need and develop literacy skills outside of reading time. This article was chosen because it shows how content areas and literacy can be integrated together. When teachers are developing literacy centers they should keep content areas in mind.

Falk-Rose, F. Helping literacy centers come alive for teachers: transitions into use of interactive small group reading stations. Yearbook of the College Reading Association. 2006. p.237-247.

Literacy centers can be overwhelming for new teachers or teachers who are not used to implementing them. This article researched and followed a group of teachers who were unfamiliar with implementing literacy centers in their classrooms. Step-by-step directions and professional development was given before the teachers were set off to create/implement centers. This article exhibits the benefits of literacy centers and shows teachers that it can be done and does help improve literacy.

Genisio, M.; Drecktrah, M. Emergent literacy in an early childhood classroom: center learning to support the child with special needs. Early Childhood Education Journal. June 1999. Vol. 26 Issue 4. p225-231.

Meeting the needs of students with special needs can be more successful when literacy centers are used in a classroom. This article shows the importance of literacy centers and students with special needs in early childhood classrooms. This can still be applied/is true for students of all ages in the elementary school. The article stated that classrooms that provide children with an authentic opportunity to become engaged in learning through centers nurture literacy.
