The Anti-cellulite Recipe Book Liz Hodgkinson,1990-01-01 Natural Beauty Skin Care Monica Shabby,2020-05-13 Do you want to learn how to make cleansers mask moisturizers anti cellulite and hair product with easy homemade recipes If yes then keep reading Choosing to go back to nature and opting for organic natural cosmetic products has numerous advantages for the care of your skin In fact the cosmetics based on natural products have the great power to restore vitality and brightness to the face and body and promote greater awareness of what is good and what is bad for our skin I started to get interested in organic world several years ago when a natural and organic shop opened in the city center near my house Over time I discovered a whole world made up of small big actions choices people who work to create something that is truly in tune with our body which supports our natural balance and our health with it Choosing bio does not just mean buying a higher quality product free of toxic and allergenic substances of fungicides synthetic chemicals Choosing organic means choosing life and vitality In particular I speak here of natural cosmetics a word that combines both eco attention therefore to environment and to the biological Since I discovered the world of natural cosmetics I have been able to see how our body is a perfect machine which needs to be well and nourished well even from skin Yes because the largest and most extended organ of the human body that is responsible for protecting us from infections and filtering all types of bacteria toxins and also maintains the perfect balance in our body This book covers the following topics Skin types Steps of skin cleaning Natural makeup for your face Beautiful body Tips and tricks to maintain healthy skin throughout the body Natural recipes for the body Beautiful hair Hair structure what do i need to know about it Tips for keeping your hair healthy How do i get my hair to grow Natural treatments to give vigor and shine And much more Therefore our skin care is no longer just a matter of aesthetics but also our health care And when we do that the skin reacts happily very happily I say full of joyful vitality Feeding our body and skin with natural products therefore means making a radical choice of awareness becoming attentive present consumers who buy wisely and also discover that they have great power in this sense Some complain that this has become a trend but I sincerely believe that it is the result of the awareness and exercise of power of many people who said NO to the use of harmful substances and this has prompted many companies to produce cosmetics bio The difference appears obvious don t you think What I would like to emphasize is that the skin feeds on what we give it both when we eat and when we spread ourselves with creams oils and so on It does not make much sense to eat organic and then spread ourselves with silicone creams The commercial products contain parabens petrolatum and other chemicals that give a silky effect to skin which however is only apparent They do not nourish the skin do not support its natural physiological processes and do nothing Ready to get started Click Buy Now Homemade Skin Remedies:
