Hydrologic Cycle

Reading Passage

Read the passage carefully before answering the questions that follow.

The hydrologic cycle is a continuous process that moves water between the atmosphere, land, and oceans. It is a natural process that has been going on since the beginning of time. The cycle is driven by the sun, which provides the energy for evaporation. Water evaporates from the oceans, lakes, and rivers, and from plants and animals. The water vapor then rises into the atmosphere, where it cools and condenses into clouds. When the clouds become heavy, they release precipitation in the form of rain or snow. This precipitation falls on the land or the water. On the land, some of the water infiltrates the ground, where it becomes groundwater. Some of the water runs off into the oceans, lakes, and rivers. On the water, the water evaporates back into the atmosphere. The cycle is a continuous process that is essential for life on Earth.

Select the Correct Answer

1. What is the primary role of condensation in the hydrologic cycle?

- To create clouds
- To create precipitation
- To create rain
- To create snow

Short Answer Questions

Provide brief written responses to the following questions.

20. Explain how evaporation contributes to water availability in the spring.

21. Describe the role of infiltration in maintaining river flow.

22. Why is groundwater crucial for water storage in arid and semi-arid regions?
