14. The "book burners" are a group of people who are responsible for the destruction of books.
15. The "book burners" are a group of people who are responsible for the destruction of books.

Montag's journey is a journey of self-discovery and rebellion against a society that values conformity over individuality. He learns that books are a source of knowledge and freedom, and that he has the power to change his own destiny. The "book burners" represent the forces of oppression and censorship that threaten the very essence of human progress and enlightenment. Montag's ultimate act of defiance is to burn his own house, symbolizing his rejection of the society that has tried to control him.
