

1a) A rise in price level!

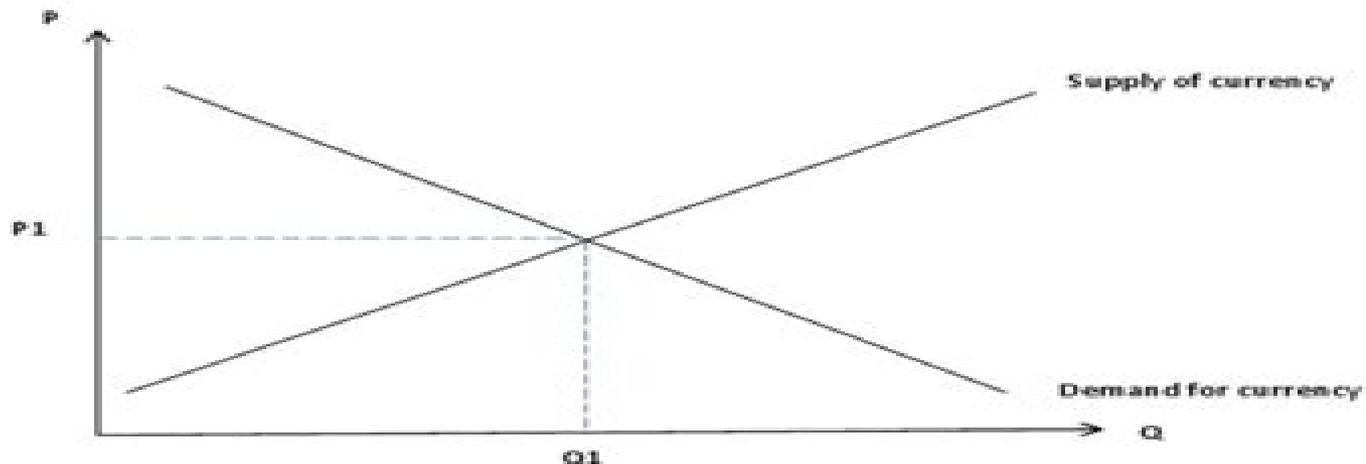

b) A shift to the right, and increase in aggregate demand because

2a)  $5\% \text{ of } $9800 - 6\% \text{ of } $8000 = 490 - 480 = $10\text{million}$

b) (i) Because an increase may mean that imports outweigh exports making Net Exports a negative figure (creating a deficit)

(ii) Whilst imports from China may increase, imports from other countries (e.g. India, Egypt, UAE, etc.) may decrease, meaning that overall imports have decreased or at least negating the effect of rising imports from China. In the same way, exports to other countries (including China) may increase, also negating the effect of increasing Chinese imports). It also depends on by how much imports from China increase, because a small increase may not have a large enough effect to make cost of imports larger than revenue from Exports.

The exchange rate is determined by the equilibrium between the demand for that currency and its supply.

b) The value of the Sudanese pound decreased because you can buy fewer dollars with the same number of Sudanese pounds.

4a) The high rates of illiteracy means that potential employers may not wish to take on many of the workers meaning they are unable to earn a wage and therefore unable to buy things, reducing demand for products and reducing production in the country, lowering demand for workers which creates further cyclical unemployment.

A Competitive Strategy Analysis Paper on the Philippines Anthony Betia,2023-04-05 Essay from the year 2023 in the subject Economics International Economic Relations grade 1 0 University of Asia and the Pacific course Master of Science in Management language English abstract This paper offers a comprehensive competitive strategy analysis on the Philippine economy It examines the local processes and industries in the light of 2023 economics and adds insight into possible solutions moving forward with innovation The former Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos coined the name the sick man of Asia which the title of this paper also refers to This description was due to the fact that the country despite having key natural resources a strong pool of talent and opportunities to develop many factors continue to hold it back from becoming globally competitive The author argues that Marcos nickname is still relevant today and lists several reasons for why the country has not yet succeeded The first part discusses the topic of inclusion or rather the lack thereof The concept of inclusion here means the economic gains and opportunities are equally accessible to all citizens While the Philippines are doing quite well according to their GDP domestically the country deals with high poverty rates and a huge financial split through the society In the second part of the paper the author analyzed the impact colonialisation has had on the country and its understanding of trade and import and export In the last step the author discusses industries and processes that carry potential and opportunities for innovation
